OARSMEN ARE INDIGNANT. acing Tagbouts Cause Considerable Dam-

age on the Harlem River. Harlem oarsmen are considerably agitated over the damage done to their houses on last Saturday afternoon by the tugboats returning from the baseball game at Manhattan Field. Three large tugs came down the river at full speed a few minutes after the game was over. Two of them were racing abreast, and the other followed a short distance behind. The heavy swell which they caused rocked and jarred every house along the river, and damaged several of them. It stove in the side of one of the boxes upon which the house of the Empire Boat Club oats, causing it to fill and that corner of the house to sink until the floor was under water. The Union Boat Club house was rocked so violently that the oars were thrown down from the walls, and several new sweeps recently bought for the eight-oared shell were ruined by boucht for the eight-oared shell were ruined by having their biades shivered into fragments. In the other houses pictures were thrown from the walls, sweeps from their racks, and the bouts jarred, but no severe damage was done. The boats upon the river were exposed to a greaver danger, and several were upset. A row-boat containing two young men, was thrown up on the mud bank just above the Empire boat house, and the occupants drenched with dirty water, several waves breaking completely over them. A little further down the river the steam launch used by the Columbia College men was almost capsized. So much water was taken on board that the fires were put out. Nagle and Hawkins of the Harlem Rowing Club, who were out in a double gig, were next encountered near the house of the Union Boat Club. They are experienced oarsmen, but were upset by the swells from the first two tugs. Members of the Union Boat Club, who were about to go to their assistance, shouted to the Captain of the third tug to slow up, but he refused, and the oarsmen were left struggling in the water until all three tugs had passed.

The matter will be brought to the attention of the Harlem Regatta Association at its next

The matter will be brought to the attention of the Harlem Regatta Association at its next meeting, and a determined effort will be made to secure concerted action by all the clubs upon the river. A fund will probably be raised with which to begin legal proceedings against the tugboat owners.

Creditors Say the Bid Doesn't Tempt Them, and Hold On.

t was stated yesterday by creditors of E. S. Jaffray & Co, that it was altogether unlikely that any large creditor of the firm would sell out its claim to the executors of the E. S. Jaffray estate for seventy-five cents on the dollar. One creditor said:

The executors are not in the philanthropy business. If they are willing to pay seventyfive cents on the dollar, they must expect to get more when they dispose of the claims. We can hold on and save the profit that they want to hold on and save the profit that they want to make."

This creditor didn't want to express any opinion of the action of the executors in issuing the circular. He did say, however, that the circular would have a tendency to depreciate the securities of the firm and to scare creditors, provided there were any creditors who did not know the sort of business the firm had been doing. Nearly all the creditors, he said, did know, and felt that their interests were amply protected in the hands of the receivers, and that they would get 100 cents on the dollar.

Mr. Frank of the firm of Frank & Einstein, auditors, who have charge of the buying of wintever claims are for sale, said vesterday:

"The letter offering to buy claims against the firm at a large discount, which letter was referred to by the executors in their circular, was written by a lawyer. I do not know what his figure was, but I know he called on several of the creditors and said he had a client who wanted to purchase the claims. So far as the offer of the executors is concerned we think it is offer of the executors is concerned we think it is

FIFTY YEARS A CHURCH.

Anniversary Celebration at All Souls' Church in Williamsburgh,

All Souls' Universalist Church in South Ninth street, Williamsburgh, will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary to-day. Former pastors of the church will be present and two of the original twenty-two members who founded the society.

The church was organized in 1845, when Williamsburgh was a village, and the first service liamsburch was a village, and the first service was held in a small frame building in South Fifth street. Afterward the brick church on the southwest corner of Hedford avenue and fouth Third street was built at a cost of $7.000 and the Rev. Henry Lyon was elected pastor. The present church was erected in 1874.

At the morning exercises to-day the Rev. Dr. Cyrus H. Fay, the Rev. Dr. Gerherdus L. Demarest, the Rev. Dr. Thomas Sawyer, and the Rev. John Coloman Adams, the present pastor, will speak. The Sunday school will have a reunion in the afternoon, at which there will be addresses by former Superintendents. In the givening addresses will be made by visiting minfers.

ALEXANDER SIMON'S DEATH. Caused by the Beating He Got After Shooting His Wife.

Alexander Simon, the Frenchman who tried to kill his wife by shooting on April 17, died in the Charity Hospital on Blackwell's Island early yesterday morning. Simon shot his wife on the sidewalk at Seventh avenue and Twenty-sixth street. After firing the shot he ran into Lacey's atreet. After firing the shot he ran into Lacey's saloon. The bartender, taking the revolver from Simon's hand, beat him on the head with it. Simon was taken to Bellevue Hospital, and later was transferred to Blackwell's lehald. His death was directly due to crysipelas. After beating Simon the bartender disappeared and the police have been unable to find him. Mrs. Simon, who keeps a small restaurant at 171 West Twenty-sixth atreet, has recovered from the effect of her wound.

The Community of St. Benedict Now.

The Community of the Brothers of the Church the monastic order of laymen which was instituted by Bishop Potter last September, will leave the Priory at 371 West Thirty-fifth street, leave the Priory at 371 West Thirty-fifth street, where it has since been established, for its future home at Fallsington, Pa., early this week. Hereafter the Brothers will be called the Community of St. Benedict, the change having been effected at a special service held in the oratory of the Priory last Thursday by the Rev. Father Nichol, acting for the Bislop, who was unable to be present. At Fallsington, which is just over the border between New Jersey and Pennsylvania, a home for crippled and orphan children will be established.

Nose Broken and Four Teeth Knocked Out Matthew Larkin, foreman in a hay and feed market, at North Tenth street and Real ave-nue. Williamsburgh, was attacked with an Iron hook yesterday in the market by Henry Young, who was recently released from the peniten-tiary. Larkin's nose was broken and four of his teeth were knocked out. Young escaped.

Several persons were before the court on writs of habeas corpus for the purpose of seeking their release from imprisonment. Among them was John C. Cole, a gripman of the Third Avenue Railroad Company, who was held on Friday by the Coroner to await the action of the Grand Jury for having caused the death of a man on upper Third avenue. Samuel Slater, who appeared for the gripman, centended that the action of the Coroner was illegal, as the accused was entitled to an examination before a police magistrate. Judge Lawrence dismissed the writ, saying that Coroners had precisely the powers of magistrates to hold or discharge a prisoner.

George Mydrs and Daniel Kelly, boys, were before Judge Lawrence on inabeas corous, seeking to be released from the Island, to which place they were committed by a police magistrate for two months in default of $1,000 bail. They were charged with Jostiling people on Sixth avenue with the intention of picking pockets. Assistant District Attorney Martine said the police magistrate had the power of summary conviction, and that the remedy must be by appeal. Judge Lawrence took this view of the case and dismissed the writs. Several persons were before the court on writs Germania.... Greenwich... Hanover... Hudson Hiv... Imp & Trad... Irving... Success of the Art Loan Exhibition, The managers of the Art Loan Exhibition, which opened by Wednesday at the Ortgies galleries, have reason to congratulate themselves on the result of their efforts. Very seldom can such a number of fine collections be seen under one roof as are now brought together at 305 Fifth avenue. The collections of fans and laces are perhaps the most numerous, amounting as they do to over 500 specimens. But they are not more interesting than the old sliver or the enamels, the case containing the latter, which is placed near the door, attracting great attention. At the end of the first room is a large and magnificent piece of tapestry in such good preservation that many people consider it modern. This is not the case; it is a piece of Aubusson of the eighteenth century, and is a copy from Teniers. At the time of the French revolution it was stripped from the walls of the Tulieries and carefully preserved.

The carved ivories are remarkably interesting, especially the Oriental ones, which repay the closest scrutiny. Among the European specimens is an Italian one called H Bacto, which is said to be the largest in this country. The tusk from which this was carved must have been enormous.

The exhibition will be kept open for four which opened on Wednesday at the Ortgies galenormous.

The exhibition will be kept open for four weeks, and on Thursdays tea will be served as at the private view in the tapestry room.

Whatever may have been the account than the fact that outside public attention has been attracted to the market, which is now, in every way, breader and better sustained by that same outside support than it has been in several years. This fact is reflected in the wider range of securities dealtain, in the increased activity, and being depressed from one cause or another.

This revivat of public interest in the speculation renders obsolete many of the ingerious arguments now being advanced by the advocates of a reaction. Public sentiment appears to have discarded such views as belonging to an era which is rapidly closing and being left be-plain and justify this changed sentiment. In the first place of importance there still stands the Government and the bond syndicate, and the events of the week are additional evidence that the misgivings expressed by the faint-hearted and the doubtful. as to the successful execution of that contract, 1 Union Pac, '98s. 1045 54 Union Pac, 8F. 92 18 Un Pac, D & G 1st. 373 373 54 534 were due only to the ignorance of the financial and mental resources of the parties of the second part.
